

To Whom It May Concern:

I have recently become aware of a new broadcast service, which the FCC is proposing to expand. From what I understand, this new broadcast service, called Low Power FM will take priority over current FM translator services, thus, making it very likely that the current K-LOVE station to be forced off the radio.

K-LOVE, with their positive and encouraging music and messages is something I am constantly listening to...they always provide me with the station to stick with so I am not flipping around from station to station. K-LOVE also provides me with up to date information on concerts in the area and any other Christian events I may be interested in...I need K-LOVE.

If the K-LOVE station would be taken away, I would not easily have access to the events in the area I so dearly enjoy. I would consequently be forced to flip around from station to station when I drive, and in the big city of Chicago, it is important to pay attention to the road not what is playing on the radio. I can remember back to driver's education class when we were told to adjust our mirrors, our seat, and the radio before we even took the car out of park. The mirrors, seat, and radio are meant to remain as the constant...something I have only found with K-LOVE.

It is clear that K-LOVE is essential to the safety of those on the road, to the economy as the advertising of concerts and other events gets people out, purchasing gas, food, etc., but most importantly, K-LOVE is important to the emotional and spiritual health and well being of all those who listen.

I ask that you please be sure to keep the lines of communication open for the K-LOVE stations. Without the translator service, K-LOVE, who is listener supported, may go away. The listeners, with their support, show how much they love K-LOVE as well...please do not take this away.

Respectfully,

-Garrett Jones
